Mission is bigger than any one group

The body of Christ requires all members working together to fulfill God's purposes and accomplish His mission in the world.

God's mission requires diverse gifts and perspectives from all believers

No single group can accomplish the fullness of God's work alone

Unity in diversity strengthens the body of Christ and His kingdom

Both men and women are called to participate in His great commission

God has established order within the work

"God is not a God of confusion but of peace."

Scripture - 1 Corinthians 14:33

Godly men must commit to lead

 Servant leadership characterized by humility and sacrifice, following Christ's example of washing the disciples' feet.

 Leading by example in home, church, and community through integrity, faithfulness, and godly character.

 Creating environments where others can flourish in their God-given callings and spiritual gifts.

 Following Christ's model of sacrificial love, putting others' needs above our own desires and comfort.

Godly women must serve powerfully

 Women called to powerful service and ministry through teaching, mentoring, and spiritual guidance.

 Teaching, mentoring, and spiritual nurturing roles that build up the body of Christ.

 Unity in complementary roles advances the Gospel and strengthens the church community.

 Collaboration honors God and strengthens the church when men and women work together in their calling.

Biblical Examples

Priscilla teaching Apollos (Acts 18:26), Phoebe as deacon (Romans 16:1), Lydia's ministry (Acts 16:14-15), and Titus 2:3-5 older women teaching younger women.
